

UCLA Biotech Training Symposium

UCLA Biotechnology Training in Biomedical Sciences and Engineering (BTBSE)

Friday, August 17, 2018

12:00 PM to 5:00 PM with reception to follow

UCLA Faculty Center, Hacienda Room

A symposium dedicated to highlighting the opportunities available through industry and academia for biotechnology-related PhDs. Former BTBSE trainees, associated faculty, and graduate students interested in biotechnology are all invited to attend.

Keynote Speakers

Prof. Yvonne Chen

UCLA Department of Chemical and Biomolecular Engineering

Academic speaker

Dr. Natalie Boehnke

Postdoctoral Researcher, Hammond Lab at MIT

Alumni speaker

Dr. Philip Wiemann

Principal Scientist at Hexagon Bio

Industrial speaker

With Research Talks from Current Trainees

Nicholas Liu

CBE

Kathryn Mansfield

Chem. and Biochem.

Robert Dimatteo

CBE

Sunny Hung

CBE

Daniel Estabrook

Chem. and Biochem.

Madeline Gelb

Chem. and Biochem.

Andrew Hou

CBE

Kersti Haatveit

Chem. and Biochem.

Justin Evan Miller

Chem. and Biochem.

The Symposium is sponsored by BTBSE through NIH grant T32 GM067555-12 and UCLA graduate division.

More BTBSE information at <https://sites.google.com/site/btbseucla/training-symposium>